Wireless Charging

The new generation of chargers is wireless!

Give your charger with a plug a fixed place in your home or on your desk. Charging your mobile phone begins as soon as you place it on the base holder. You no longer need separate cables to charge your smartphone, which is very practical.

How does it work?

The energy of the charger is transformed and sent to a receiver on the back of the smartphone. The receiver in the smartphone then transforms this energy into electricity, charging the battery; electric energy is transformed into electromagnetic induction.

Suitable for:

Mobile devices that support Qi wireless charging: Android devices such as the Nexus 5, LG G-series and Samsung Galaxy and iPhones (from model 8). The chargers themselves are universal and device-independent.
